PRIDAY, January 11, 1918

IN 1864

"I almost always feel inclined, when I happen to say anything to soldiers, to impress upon them, in a few brief remarks, the importance of success in this contest. It is not merely for to-day, but for all time to come, that we should perpetuate for our children's children that great and free government which we have enjoyed all our lives. It is in order that each of you may have an open field and a fair chance for your industry, enterprise, and intelligence; that you may all have equal privileges in the race of life, with all its desirable human aspirations. It is for this the struggle should be maintained, that we may not lose our birthright. The nation is worth fighting for, to secure such an inestimable jewel."-Abraham Lincoln to the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Ohio Regiment, Aug. 22, 1864.

WABASH INSTITUTE JANUARY 18-19

The Washington township farmers' institute will meet next Friday for a two day's session. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion, and there will be good music to enliven the meeting. The state lecturers are G. F. Aldridge, of Helena, F. G. Ketner, of Baltimore and Dr. Mary E. Anderson of Summit county. An interesting and instructive meeting is anticipated and you should make arrangements to attend.

DR. MARY E. ANDERSON, Summit County.

PHYSICIAN, MOTHER AND LECTURER TO SPEAK HERE

Has Been a Farmers' Institute Worker for Several Seasons.

One of the speakers at the coming farmers' institute is Dr. Mary E. Anderson. She has had a varied experience as a mother, teacher, physician and lecturer at farmers' institutes throughout Ohio and in other states. She has worked for the improvement of the community in which she lives and has served as a member of the board of education in her township. Mrs. Anderson's talks are mostly along the lines of rural health and sanitation. Her training and experience have fitted her to discuss these topics in a practical and interesting manner.

WEEKLY WAR REVIEW

Premier Lloyd-George set forth Great Britain's war alms in a speech before delegates of trades unions at London. He made it clear what the British nation and empire would regard as a just and durable peace. This, he declared, must be achieved by the re-establishment of the sanctity of treaties, territorial adjustments on the basis of self-government and the limitation of armaments guaranteed by an international organization. Great Britain is not fighting, said the premier, to disrupt Germany, destroy Austria-Hungary or take Turkey's capital or her home lands from her. The desire, in gad, he insisted, was to turn Germany from her schemes of military domination to beneficent tasks in the world and to settle the territorial questions of the war in a way that would do justice to the various nationalities affected. In effect a reply to and rejection of the peace terms of the central powers as voiced by their spokesman recently at Brest-Litovsk, the premier's speech was for the most part an affirmative utterance. Belgium must be completely restored and reparation made to her so far as possible, he said: France must have the wrong of 1871-the taking from her of Alsace-Lorraine-righted; an independent Poland must be established, including all of Polish nationality was desire to join in it; the peoples of such regions as Arabia, Palestine, Mesopotamia and Armenia, who have been under Turkish domination, must have their separate national conditions recognized; the wishes and interests of the natives of the German colonies must be primarily regarded by the peace conference; the claims of Italy for reunion for those of her own race and language must be regarded as vital; Roumania, Serbia and Montenegro must be restored.

Berlin officially announced a tem porary suspension of peace negotiations with the Bolsheviki government, following the latter's demand that further parleys be held at Stockholm instead of at German eastern headquarters at Brest-Litovsk. During the week the Germans launched subcessful local attacks in the Cambra! sector of the French front, the British yielding up ad vanced posts

Military operations of a major nature have been virtually at a standstill on all other fronts. None of the official statements recorded anything but minor operations.

London announced, on Jan. 7, the repulse of a German attack on the British line southwest of Ypres in Flanders. Likewise an attempted raid against the French positions on the historic Hill 304, in the Verdun sector, was stopped. A London dispatch dater Jan. 9 stated that the Germans entered British advanced posts north of the Ypres-Staden railway, but later were forced out by a counter attack Near Verdun French troops raided German positions on a mile front, returning with some prisoners and some ma-

Another Bargain Offer

The Ohio State Journal Is Ou With Their Annual Offer, Embracing Reductions All Along the Line.

Regardless of the fact that the expense of publishing a newspaper has advanced normously over a year ago, the Ohio State journal is out with their annual Pargain Offer, making attractive reducons m a dozen different club offers. The Ohio State Journal is the oldest wwspaper published west of the Allegmny Mountains. It has long been a great favorite with the farmers, who like to get a newspaper on the day it is published in Columbus or Central Ohio and therefore the only one to reach rural route patrons on day of publication.

A newspaper subscription has sifted down to a busines stransaction. The subscriber in this day and age considers the news service and what time the paper will reach hm. He want service, both in the way of newsand delivry. The Ohio State Journal is a member of the Associated Press and its readers are therefore assured of receiving, at the earliest possible hour, all the important news from every section of the globe. Interest in the great European war has made the daily newspaper of greater importance than ever before. Our boys are ow fighting in the big army with the allies and we are more than interested. Special attention has been given to the live Stock, Grain and Produce market reports, which have fluctuated so much n account of the war, and Ohio State ournal readers have been kept in close ouch with every change in price. Colonel E. S. Wilson, lecturer, orator nd after-dinner speaker, in charge of the editorial page, has a large following who recognize his ability and prass his dtorial work.

Apparently every egort has been made y the management of the Ohio State Journal to make that newspaper increstng and reliable in every respect. Its nany features show the wants of news Ashtabula, O., Jan. 10.-A masked paper readers have been carefully studied and that for a thoroughly complete and up-to-date newspaper the Ohio State Journal is not excelled.
